SATURDAY EVENING, DEC. 11.

A PARAGBAPH OF THE FUIURE -Time, A. D., 1900. The necessity for church going and edifices is almost dispensed with. The Rev. Dr. Turgid, from the central edifice of the Sacred Telephone, preaches every Sunday to 5,000 families of his persussion in the privacy of their homes. The musical acquees to the service, voosl and instrumental, ar: also dispensed by telephones, and as watted to the 5,000 homes by elec ricity, each family j ins in the bymu. The average attention to service is much greater now that s querter of a century sinos, as the ladies have not each other's dresses and bonnets to lock at. - New Orleans

Novel reading, like poper and salt, is a very good thing occasionally, but when made the chief end of life it is sa inputritious sa pepper and salt would be as staple food. When one lives among imaginary lords and dukes, and is the constant companien of a hero who is half pirate and half saiot, but who invariably succeeds in his undertakings, or of a heroice to whom the wealth of Goloonda seems to be pitiable poverty, it is a little difficult to come down to the ordinary runan nature of our neighbors, who occupy the flat just below or just above us, and equally difficut to k ep in mind the feet that our is come does not represent even a trection of the Goldonda strek.
